U.S. at War With Russia

• Greene blasts House for funding “regime change,” ignoring our needs

By the AFP Staff

“We’re not just at war to support the Ukrainians. We’re fundamentally at war, although somewhat through a proxy, with Russia, and it’s important that we win.” Two weeks ago, those words spoken by Rep. Seth Moulton (D-Mass.) on Fox News on May 7 would have been blasted by top Western officials and the mainstream press as “Russian disinformation,” but not today. Today, top U.S. officials, including Moulton, who sits on the powerful House Armed Services Committee, are admitting the West is in a proxy war, i.e., using others to fight your “enemies,” with Russia. Today, the world is one provocation away from another world war.

On May 10, the House passed a bill that gives $40 billion to the Ukrainian government to fund its war. Among other things, the bill gives $6 billion worth of weapons and another $5 billion in food aid to the Ukrainians. The White House had asked for $33 billion, but Congress, not to be out-grandstanded, threw even more U.S. taxpayer dollars at this war.

Only 57 congressmen—all Republicans—voted against it. Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene, who has been vilified mercilessly in the mainstream media lately, took to the House floor to blast the legislation.

“Stop funding regime change and money laundering scams,” she said. “The American people do not support paying for constant U.S. involvement in foreign affairs while our own government fails our own country.”

Greene specifically pointed to the fact that Americans are paying record-high gas prices. Devastating supply shortages continue in the United States for critical needs such as baby formula.

In the past three months, the White House has given nearly $50 billion to the notoriously corrupt Ukrainian government. This comes only months after the U.S. abruptly pulled out of Afghanistan—a war that costs the U.S. trillions of dollars with nothing to show for it but thousands of bomb craters.

The White House has thrown all this money at the Ukrainian government with absolutely no accountability. A simple search of the internet shows no Western press documenting Ukrainian equipment losses, let alone the number of Ukrainian soldiers who have lost their lives. It is impossible to get accurate accounts in the middle of war, but, according to the Russian Ministry of Defense, on May 9 alone, during one particularly risky assault on Snake Island in the Black Sea, the Ukrainian military lost 30 drones, 10 helicopters, four jets, three ships, and as many as 50 troops. In another recent operation, the Ukrainians reportedly lost over 1,000 soldiers as they were boxed in near a large dam in eastern Ukraine.

The U.S. is “ignoring our own border crisis, baby formula crisis, and brutal skyrocketing inflation and fuel prices,” said Greene on the House floor. “Ukraine is not even a NATO ally. Why are you driving us to war with nuclear Russia?” ★
