ELITE MEET IN LISBON

The 2023 Bilderberg meeting was held behind closed doors in Lisbon, Portugal from May 18-21, addressing a range of topics central to advancing globalism and the international oligarchs in attendance's desire for a "Great Reset" as part of their broader New World Order agenda.

Several of this year's 13 Bilderberg topics were one word, such as Russia, China, Europe, India, and NATO. Unsurprisingly, another one-word topic that popped up at last year's Bilderberg meeting and returned in 2023 for the 69th meeting in 69 years is Ukraine.

That topic, of course, explains NATO's inclusion on the 2023 topics agenda and NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg's return to Bilder-berg once again. Plus, NATO is a conduit in helping train and equip Ukraine against a Russian invasion that, evidently, was an answer to the EU-NATO-U.S. hegemonic axis overthrowing Ukraine's pro-Russian leader in a 2014 coup—and to the relentless eastward expansion of NATO to Russia's doorstep.

As one scans the list of this year's Bilderberg attendees, starting with several of the key Americans, one immediately notices noteworthy attendees including U.S. Director of National Intelligence Avril Raines, National Security Council Senior Technology Director Tarun Chhabra, former National Economic Council Director Brian Dease, Senior Commerce Department China Advisor Elizabeth Economy, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency Director Jen Easterly, and, among others, Bilderberg pillar and longtime U.S. government apparatchik Henry Kissinger of Kissinger & Associates.

Pfizer Chairman and CEO Albert Bourla, a relative Bilderberg newcomer, figured prominently at this year's Bilderberg meeting in terms of his perceived iconoclastic status in establishment circles, despite his image as a malefactor among the vaccine-injured who can scarcely get their voices heard by what some see as Big Pharma-owned government regulators and mass media outlets. While there were no obvious Big Pharma-related topics on this year's Bilderberg agenda—although "Post Pandemic Health" was on the agenda last year—Bourla takes a considerable interest in Ukraine.

Just after last year's Bilderberg meeting in Washington D.C., which Bourla also attended, he officially announced, on June 22, that Pfizer would:

[D]onate the equivalent of all profits from our sales in Russia to causes that provide direct humanitarian support to the people of Ukraine. Today [June 22] ... [our] first down payment of $5 million will go to eight global and local NGOs to support humanitarian relief and response efforts. This includes food security and support services, education for children, and other pressing needs of the
