SANITY VS SOROS

By John Friend

On June 6, Alexander Soros, the son of the infamous nation-wrecking billionaire plutocrat George Soros and the current chairman of the Open Society Foundations (OSF), posted a photograph of himself with Vice President Kamala Harris on his personal Twitter page. From all accounts, Alexander is George’s heir-apparent, so a meeting like this is certainly newsworthy.

Just prior to meeting with Harris, Alexander penned an op-ed published by CNN. It lauded the Biden administration’s recently announced National Strategy to Counter Anti-Semitism, a first-of-its-kind initiative designed to marshal the resources of the entire federal government to combat “anti-Semitism.”

What this initiative essentially amounts to is a ban on the discussion or criticism of any Jewish person or institution. The implications are astounding. (See more on page 12.)

In the future, could asking honest questions about the meeting between Soros, Vice President Harris and top officials in the Biden White House itself be characterized as anti-Semitic, as Alexander is Jewish? And, by these same rules, will news outlets be wary of criticizing the actions of Antony Blinken, Janet

Yellen, Alejandro Mayorkas or Merrick Garland, for instance, for fear they might be committing anti-Semitism?

Not surprisingly, the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) played a key role in formulating this new initiative. The ADL is a Jewish organization. Are we allowed to point that out?

Note that, for decades, the Soros family has hidden behind a solid shield of “anti-Semitism,” lambasting any critical reportage on their Marxist political agenda as “anti-Semitic conspiracies.”

That base slander may finally be losing its potency, as more and more Americans wake up to the reality of the cultural Marxist agenda of the Soros clan and their billion-dollar global network of NGOs and activist groups.

Glenn Greenwald, a leading independent journalist who himself has Jewish roots, quipped on Twitter after seeing the photo of Soros and Harris in D.C.: “Remember that this family—which uses its vast wealth to influence politics across the globe more than any other—is strictly off limits from being mentioned let alone criticized.”

Alan Dershowitz, a prominent Jewish attorney and law professor, recently published an op-ed defending Twitter owner Elon Musk, who found himself labeled “anti-Semitic” for comments he made about George Soros. Israel, the ADL and Soros family attacked Musk for stating that George “Soros hates humanity” and is actively seeking to “erode the very fabric of civilization.”

George Soros “is an active participant in politics, and his Jewishness shouldn’t shield him from criticism,” Dershowitz argued convincingly.

And more are catching on. Two leading Jewish conservatives recently launched an organization called “Jews Against Soros,” which aims to combat the worn-out charge of “anti-Semitism” any time anyone criticizes Soros.

“There is nothing anti-Semitic about condemning George Soros,” the group notes on its official website. We agree.

Indeed, people across the world are awakening to the truth about the insane revolutionary Marxist agenda promoted by Soros and his minions. No amount of name calling can change that. ★
